Instructions to compute your estimated scores:

- 1 Unlike the real GMAT, the four test questions in the Quantitative and the Verbal sections are arranged in order from easiest to hardest. The easiest question is 1 and the hardest question is question 4.
- 2 Identify the hardest question you got correct in the Quantitative section.
- 3 Identify the hardest question you got correct in the Verbal section.
- 4 Next find the combination of the two numbers on the chart. Your estimated score range is the table value and the next higher value. For example, if you got question 4 correct in the Quantitative section and question 3 in the Verbal section then your estimated score range is between 630 and 680.
